You've already made one good decision by choosing to pursue an advanced education. Now make another by choosing to grow the business of you at Keller.

Virtually every industry worldwide employs certified public accountants. And with more complex financial laws, new corporate governance regulations and increased emphasis on business ethics, demand for qualified accountants and auditors is expected to grow more than 20 percent by 2018*. By adding the CPA credential to your resumé, you can gain a powerful advantage in this competitive and challenging field.

Exam preparation and advanced accounting coursework in one

If you're interested in becoming a licensed CPA, the Graduate Certificate in CPA Preparation at DeVry University's Keller Graduate School of Management offers a powerful advantage. This integrated 30-credit-hour curriculum enables you to earn academic credits that may help you satisfy the CPA licensing requirements in your state, may allow you to sit for the CPA exam in many states, and prepares you for the CPA exam through courses that integrate Becker Professional Education's CPA Exam Review methodology.

We want nothing to stand in your way of earning your CPA license. That's why we built flexibility, convenience and quality coursework into the Graduate Certificate in CPA Preparation. You can take classes on campus at one of our locations, complete coursework online, or combine in-classroom and online study to fit your busy schedule. No matter which teaching environment you choose, you'll learn from highly knowledgeable faculty members with real-world experience, including Becker instructors who are all CPAs.

With a Graduate Certificate in CPA Preparation from Keller, you can enhance your career potential, employment security and financial rewards. Plus, you may be able to apply certain credits toward a Keller master's degree program, should you choose to pursue one.
